The End of Fiat Currency

One of the most important changes that will happen to money in the NESARA Era is the end of fiat currency. Fiat currency is money that is not backed by anything of value, such as gold or silver. Instead, fiat currency is created by governments and central banks out of thin air.

The problem with fiat currency is that it is not stable. The value of fiat currency can fluctuate wildly, depending on the whims of the government and central banks. This can make it difficult to save and plan for the future.

In the NESARA Era, fiat currency will be replaced by a new gold-backed currency. This currency will be backed by the value of gold, which is a stable and valuable asset. This will help to ensure that the value of money remains stable and predictable.

The Abundance Economy

Another major change that will happen to money in the NESARA Era is the transition to an abundance economy. In an abundance economy, there is enough money and resources for everyone to live a comfortable and prosperous life.

The current scarcity economy is based on the belief that there is not enough money and resources to go around. This belief leads to competition and conflict. In an abundance economy, the belief is that there is enough for everyone and that we all deserve to live a good life.

The transition to an abundance economy will be made possible by the new gold-backed currency. This currency will create a more stable and prosperous economy, which will benefit everyone.

What This Means for You
